Travis Allen Trounces His Republican Opponents in Fundraising With Record Breaking Numbers

Huntington Beach, CA - Republican Travis Allen announced that between July 1, 2017 and Dec. 31, 2017, his campaign for Governor of California raised $368,826.85 from 3096 individual donors. Compared to his nearest Republican opponent, John Cox, the Allen campaign raised 21% more and had 230 more donors in the period.

Travis Allen's campaign for Governor has now received donations from more donors than any Republican candidate for Governor.

These numbers continue the good news for the Allen campaign. The most recent SurveyUSA poll showed Allen beating the next two Republican candidates combined.

Additionally, in the month of January, the Allen campaign has already received the support of over 2,000 new donors.

The numbers clearly show the momentum is with the Allen campaign and he is the only viable Republican candidate that can become the next Governor of California.
