Joy Silver Continues to Outraise Incumbent Jeff Stone In Campaign For State Senate District 28

Riverside County legislative race emerging as one of California's most competitive State Senate races

(Palm Springs) – According to publicly filed campaign fundraising reports, Joy Silver yet again outraised incumbent Jeff Stone, this time by a margin of more than 5 to 1.

Incumbent Sacramento politicians are rarely outraised by challengers so Stone's weak showing and Silver's continued, growing support in the race for Riverside's 28th State Senate District are striking.

Joy Silver said: “Riverside County voters are tired of Sacramento politicians like Jeff Stone who promise reform, but end up just being part of the broken system in Sacramento that fails to deliver for inland California communities. In Sacramento, I’ll put my business experience and outside perspective to work fighting to ensure the voices of ordinary people aren’t drowned out by special interests or ignored by the career politicians. I’m excited our campaign is catching fire as we enter the general election.”

Since January 1, Silver has raised nearly $100,000 more than her Republican opponent. With more cash on hand and a much larger donor base, Silver's State Senate campaign has a significant financial advantage over Stone going into the final stretch of the general election. In the period covered by the most recent campaign finance filings, May 20th to June 30th of 2018, Silver raised $70,688, compared to Stone's receipts of $12,400 in the same period. Silver shows $78,471.90 available for the campaign, while Stone has only $46,332.93 in the bank.

Joy Silver is the Democratic nominee for State Senate. Joy is endorsed by Congressman Raul Ruiz, County Supervisor Manny Perez and the California Teachers Association.
