NPR Debate Reaction: Leaders Don't Lie, They Take a Stand

Leaders know the issues, take a stance, and make tough decision. It was clear, after listening to the KQED/NPR District 4 candidate forum that Rep. Tom McClintock is that leader.

On nearly every issue, Morse avoided taking stand or misrepresented the truth. That's a lot of dodging: 60 minutes of it to be exact.

If you want to be in Congress you have to take a stand on issues. Jessica Morse made it clear she is not capable of doing that.

1. Gas Tax (Prop. 6)

Just give us a "yes" or a "no." It's not that hard, yet Jessica Morse refused to say whether or not she supports repealing the gas tax when asked point blank. Listen here. McClintock supports Prop 6, which would repeal the massive gas tax that makes CA one of highest per gallon gas tax in the nation.

McClintock: "I actively support Prop 6 to repeal that tax. Where do you stand?"

Morse: "I think I just answered that..." [SPOILER: She didn't]

McClintock: "Yes or no?"

Morse: "I support federal infrastructure funding and the California voters will make a decision on Prop 6..."

McClintock: “So you’re not taking a position on that or other key issues.”

2. Justice Kavanaugh

McClintock outlined a clear argument for why the Kavanaugh confirmation hearings were a partisan show, ruining the reputation of an upstanding judge—all for Sen. Feinstein and the Left to put points on the board. And Americans saw right through their charade.

Disregarding our Constitution’s principles of law and order, Jessica Morse outlined what she saw as “justice”: Accusation = Conviction. That’s not what those in #CA04 would deem a fair and just society.

3. #VagabondLyfe

Another candidate forum, another misrepresentation. When asked again by NPR to explain her dishonesty about her record and resume, Morse doubled down.

We are supposed to be able to trust our elected officials, yet a Superior Court judge struck down every one of her ballot titles as untrue or misleading as did the Democrat Secretary of State. Listen here.

4. Nationalized Healthcare

For the entirety of her campaign, Morse has supported Bernie Sanders’ nationalized healthcare plan “Medicare for All.” This radical socialist program would kick every single person off of their private healthcare plan (156 MILLION people) and would DOUBLE taxes.

Yet, when realizing how radical that truly is, not only for District 4, but for most Americans, Morse changed her story. Lying about ever supporting single payer.

What will she say tomorrow??

5. Someone Needs a Calculator

As a member of the Budget Committee, Rep. McClintock has fought to create a robust economy through limited government, historic tax cuts, and fewer regulations. More money in people’s pockets lead to more growth, more jobs, and more revenue.

Morse wants a government-controlled economy that taxes more and regulates more and takes us back to those Obama-economy lackluster years of stale economic growth.
